II. Discount

The discount, equal to the percentage specified in Section I of the purchase price calculated at the current daily rate, is a purchase price reduction under sales law that is granted definitively and irrevocably at the time the contract is concluded. It arises exclusively at the time the contract is concluded; it is granted as a one-time benefit and does not increase retroactively.

The discount is not contingent on a minimum holding period, custody, or a subsequent transaction, and is not retroactively adjusted regardless of changes in the gold price after the contract is concluded. It is not interest on the purchase price, nor is it compensation for the temporary transfer of money or precious metals, nor is it an ongoing profit share; it is unrelated to the duration of the period between the conclusion of the contract and delivery. It does not give rise to an independent claim for payment separable from the purchase of goods.

TRUST GOLD may not reclaim the discount. Even in the event of a repurchase offer made pursuant to Section VI, the discount shall remain with the customer permanently.

III. Transfer of Ownership

Ownership of the fine gold bars specified in Section I passes to the customer upon physical delivery to the customer. Until that time, TRUST GOLD remains the owner of the fine gold bars. The purchase price paid establishes a contractual claim by the customer for the transfer of ownership and delivery of the fine gold bars until physical delivery takes place.

IV. Delivery

The fine gold bars will be physically shipped within eight weeks of the conclusion of the contract to the delivery address provided by the customer in the ordering system. This period is not a binding delivery date in the sense of a fixed-date transaction and does not, in and of itself, give rise to any claim for interest, compensation payments, or other financial benefits.

TRUST GOLD will notify the customer immediately if circumstances arise that make it likely the estimated timeframe will be exceeded. Following such an extension, the customer may set a reasonable grace period of at least four weeks in writing; upon the unsuccessful expiration of this grace period, the customer is entitled to withdraw from the contract. Further claims for damages are governed by Section 7 of the General Terms and Conditions.

Shipping is at the customer's expense and risk. The risk of transport passes to the customer upon handover of the fine gold bars to the contracted carrier. For consumers, the risk of accidental loss and accidental deterioration does not pass to the customer until the fine gold bars are handed over to the customer. Only if the customer personally engages the shipping carrier—without TRUST GOLD having previously designated it—does the risk pass to the customer upon handover to the carrier. The customer has the option within the ordering system to purchase shipping insurance; the customer selects the shipping method and insurance option independently.

V. Payment Methods and Due Date

The purchase price is due upon acceptance of the order by TRUST GOLD and must be paid in full; installment or partial payments are not permitted. Customers with their registered office or place of residence in the European Economic Area must pay exclusively in euros or another fiat currency of the European Economic Area using the payment methods approved in the ordering system. Payment is considered made when the full amount has been credited to the account specified by TRUST GOLD and TRUST GOLD has access to the funds.

The customer declares that the funds used for payment originate from a lawful source and that he is the beneficial owner. Payments from third-party accounts will not be accepted; payments from TRUST GOLD to the customer are made exclusively to an account in the customer's name. The customer shall promptly provide the information and evidence required under Section 9 of the General Terms and Conditions upon request.

VI. Discretionary Buyback Offer Prior to Delivery

A buyback by TRUST GOLD is not part of this purchase agreement; TRUST GOLD is under no obligation to take back the fine gold bars, refund the purchase price, or provide any other additional performance. TRUST GOLD is entitled to make a voluntary buyback offer to the customer based on the current daily prices prior to the physical delivery of the ordered fine gold bars. Such an offer is made solely at the free and unilateral discretion of TRUST GOLD. The customer has no right to receive a buyback offer; TRUST GOLD is under no contractual or legal obligation to make a buyback. The specific terms and conditions are governed by Section 13 of the General Terms and Conditions.

If the customer accepts such an offer, the customer's contractual claim to transfer of ownership and delivery of the fine gold bars shall expire upon TRUST GOLD's full payment of the agreed amount. The amount to be paid is based on the daily price of gold in effect at the time of acceptance, less the standard market dealer's discount as well as any applicable processing and logistics costs; it may be lower than the original purchase price. No minimum price guarantee or loss protection is provided. The discount under Section II remains unaffected in all cases.

VII. Risk Disclosures

The subject matter of this contract is the purchase of physical goods. TRUST GOLD does not offer a financial instrument or an investment and does not provide financial services. The price of gold is subject to market fluctuations, which can lead to both increases and decreases in value; a financial loss, including the total loss of the purchase price, cannot be ruled out. The discount granted does not constitute protection against a decline in the price of gold after the contract is concluded and is not to be understood as a guarantee of value preservation or purchase price protection. Upon transfer of ownership at the time of delivery, all opportunities and risks associated with the purchased item are transferred to the customer. TRUST GOLD grants neither a performance guarantee nor a purchase price preservation guarantee. The customer is solely responsible for the tax treatment of the purchase, ownership, and any subsequent sale.

VIII. Applicability of the General Terms and Conditions

The General Terms and Conditions of TRUST GOLD International Limited for the sale of physical fine gold bars (model "Fine Gold Bars with Discount"; as of 3 August 2026) are an integral part of this purchase agreement. By signing this purchase agreement, the customer confirms that they have fully read and accepted the General Terms and Conditions.

IX. Right of Withdrawal

The right of withdrawal is excluded, as the purchase price is directly and substantially based on the gold price established on the international precious metals markets. TRUST GOLD has no influence over this price, and it may change within the withdrawal period. The price of the fine gold bars sold is based on the current daily gold price. This price is determined on the international precious metals markets and is subject to constant fluctuations—including short-term ones—over which TRUST GOLD has no influence. Such price fluctuations may also occur within the withdrawal period. For the delivery of goods whose price depends in this way on market fluctuations beyond one's control, the relevant consumer protection regulations provide for an exception to the right of withdrawal. The right of withdrawal is therefore excluded for the respective individual purchase contract for fine gold bars. This exclusion is based solely on the manner in which the price of the sold goods is determined. It does not alter the fact that the subject matter of the contract is exclusively the purchase of physical goods and that TRUST GOLD offers neither a financial instrument nor an investment.

To the extent that a right of withdrawal applies in a specific case, the withdrawal must be made by means of a clear statement in writing sent to the address listed in TRUST GOLD's legal notice. A sample withdrawal form will be provided to the customer upon request.

X. Governing Law and Jurisdiction

This contract is governed by the laws of the Republic of Mauritius. The place of jurisdiction for all disputes arising from or in connection with this contract is Port Louis, Republic of Mauritius; where consumers are involved, a court in the district where the customer has their habitual residence shall also have jurisdiction. If the customer, as a consumer, has their habitual residence in a member state of the EEA and TRUST GOLD directs its activities toward that state, the provisions of the law of the country of residence from which no deviation is permitted by agreement (Art. 6(2) of the Rome I Regulation) shall apply supplementarily and take precedence; this includes, in particular, the warranty rights arising from the sale of consumer goods.

This contract is provided in German and English. In the event of discrepancies between the language versions or in the event of questions of interpretation, the German version shall be exclusively authoritative.
